DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

On page 1 of the specification the title of the invention should not appear in brackets and the recitation "Description" should be deleted.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the title of the invention should not appear on the abstract page.

Corrections are required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Objections

Claims 19 and 20 are objected to because of the following informalities:

The recitation "loading device" in both claims lacks antecedent basis. Appropriate correction is required.

Applicant should note the un-numbered claim following claim 27 will be identified as claim 28.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 26 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Camwell et al., U.S. 6,367,323.

Regarding claims 26 and 28, Camwell et al discloses a drilling tool (18) having therein a retrievable (at 36) while drilling tool (32) with a sensor (52,46) therein and a landing collar (34) positioned in a collar section (44) having a pocket or inner bore receiving the while drilling tool (32). Camwell et al discloses a selectively removable plug establishing fluid communication with the pocket and wellbore via an orifice (70) in the drilling tool.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 10, 14 and 21-23, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chalitsios et al., U.S. 6,856,255.

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Regarding claim 1, 10, 14 and 21-23, Chalitsios et al. discloses all the claimed limitations including the drilling tool generally shown in figure 1 having sensor chassis or collar sensor section (130) with a communication coupler (318) for operative connection with a communication coupler (316) of a retrievable while drilling tool (300) therein. Chalitsios et al. discloses a radiation detector (328) in the chassis operatively connected with the while drilling tool via the communication couplers and telemetry (308) for uphole communication.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 15-18 are allowed.

Claims 19 and 20 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the objection(s) set forth above and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 2-9, 11-13, 24, 25 and 27 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art of record does not disclose or suggest all the claimed subject matter including the while drilling tool and a flow restrictor in the pocket.
